New video billboards installed in Vancouver

Bonnis Media CoreVision of Vancouver has installed two new video billboards in that city. The 15 by 20 foot displays are located at the corner of Robson and Granville Streets. "Along with the City of Vancouver, we believe that these videos screens will help in our revitalization of Granville Street and that they will play an important role in informing and entertaining the public of Vancouver," said company president Kerry Bonnis. Bonnis Media CoreVision will manage advertising sales for the billboards within British Columbia. Elsewhere in Canada, sales representation is being handled by Outdoor Broadcast Network of Toronto.
